

INDIANA JONES AND THE LAST CRUSADE

IT'S TIME TO ASK YOURSELF, WHAT DO YOU BELIEVE?

Indy is asked to act on his beliefs. What actions do you take that are evidence of your beliefs about success for all students?

Indy finds that there is a rock bridge to support him when he finally makes his 'leap of faith.' What is the lesson here for your work?

How can you share your beliefs with other people?

Should you even try to influence others' beliefs or is it okay for everyone to live and let live? In other words, is it necessary for everyone or a majority to believe that it is our responsibility to ensure success for all students, for example, or should we just establish some policies that everyone will have to follow regardless of their beliefs?
